Luxury Garden Home Collection

Living in a Luxury Garden Home offers many of the custom features and amenities found in traditional homes with one delightful exception: low maintenance. While being able to "lock and leave" your garden home is a welcome convenience when traveling, there are other benefits that will make you very happy when you come home. Consider display and art niches for your travel collections, open gourmet kitchens, handcrafted molding, peaceful indirect lighting and money-saving, green-energy efficiency. And, when it's time to kick back and dream, there is no better place than your loggia. Sitterle Luxury Garden Homes—where elegant custom features, impeccable design and quality construction make life a lot easier so you can relax and live it.

Exquisite Single Family Homes

Defining our style is one thing, defining your style is something only you can do. What is our style? Five decades of home building experience and creativity back every Sitterle Home design. We debate the details, architectural features, amenities, energy packages, trends, and refine them all, long before designs are introduced in the market. We ask our homeowners for help, too. Finally, we select prestigious master-planned communities in sought-after locations and award winning school districts that give families the best possible lifestyles and other advantages. That is our style and tradition. With dramatic exterior stone detailing, luxurious interior features, custom touches and the best customer service in the U.S.—why not select a traditional Sitterle Home today and make it your own?
